Dear colleagues of Cities of jobs,

March 8 is a reminder to all citizens as equal women - men is essential to advance our society. You know, it is not enough to do one day a year: equality is a work at all times. To illustrate this ongoing commitment, the CDM add value to any themed events throughout the year.

Early spring is also an opportunity to make a focus on access to employment for young people. The common goal of the actions of the Saint-Quentin and the Grand Geneva is to facilitate access to solutions for the employment and training of young people.

Grégoire Evéquoz, president of the CDM Network

NEWS OF CDM

The CDM of Saint-Quentin and women entrepreneurship

Entrepreneurship for women today is most often translated into a need for additional activities, often under the auto-entrepreneur. It is also the opportunity to create their own jobs, particularly in sectors such as hairdressing or clogged aesthetics, in these areas, many women develop in-home service, which generates minimal investment costs (they often already almost all the equipment needed).

Business creation also allows some women from abroad, including African countries, access to employment. They often have little or no qualification, or at least without recognition in France, on the other hand they often have a particular expertise, or the desire to discover the products of their country, or even to live customs among people of the same origin, especially in neighborhoods.

There are also specific devices and aids, such Aisne Initiative on our territory with "in the women's initiative" which provides financial assistance for women entrepreneurs, and reward the best by awarding a prize in an annual event.

The ADIE also provides a device for women in their neighborhoods to create each of their activity by sharing the investment with a commitment to repay each share when the activity is sufficient. This facilitates their creation because they often have little money to start.

Attendance is very heterogeneous, ranging from girls not educated adults with experience (up to 45), to women from other backgrounds who are given the chance to have an activity.

What emerges is that through such actions, the women discover the partner network that can accompany them, because it is not always simple. They also discover aid, whether or not specific to women, financial or otherwise. The testimony of other creative women also reassuring because they identify more and realize that ultimately, it is possible!

Inauguration of the Municipality XIII in Ostia (Rome)

The opening of the site of the Municipality XIII of the CDM Rome and Lazio was held on March 19. The origin of this initiative, the social services of the Municipality XIII who have done networking with the Consortium Il Sol.Co. who opened the first CDM of Rome del Lazio.

The Municipality of Rome XIII is the name of the thirteenth administrative subdivision of the city of Rome, located south of the historic center. It is the southernmost municipality of the city, on the coast, better known under the name of Ostia.

Among the ladies of honor at the ceremony, Anna Sagnella, head of the new center of Ostia, Bernadette Thomas, in charge of the label and Carla Scarfagna, director of social services Municipio XIII.

An opening ceremony was attended by over 150 people. Also note the presence of:

- James Vizzani, President of Municipio XIII
- Ludovic Pace, counselor social policies Municipio XIII
- Davide Bordoni, advisor productive activities, employment and the coastline of the Roman capital,
- Giovanni Paolo Del Nero, counselor training and professional work of the province of Milan,
- Mario Monge, President of the CDM of Rome and Lazio,
- Olivier Las Vergnas, general secretary of the Network of CDM.

The Ostia region is currently in the tourism and economic development. The new site of Ostia is located in the western area near the marina and the sea was built in a semicircle in a modern style, the building covers an inner surface of 380 m², with an open space in which are different poles (job search, orientation, choose training

There are also dedicated to the back office and business creation areas and spaces designed to accommodate projects that are already active in the field in collaboration with institutional partners.

To realize this project, several local partners from the public and private sectors, have signed the protocol during the opening day, others are waiting. Important partners, C.O.L. (Referral centers for the formation of the City of Rome, colleges and training, social cooperatives and associations, business associations, training centers, etc..) All partners are already involved in the organization events and seminars for the territory.

The site of Ostia can act as a "focal point" to revive the labor market by working with a network of training centers and vocational guidance, to combine vocational training and employment. Like all CDM, it is a demonstration of how we can work together to provide practical solutions to the needs of citizens and support in what is a real social emergency responses.

The CDM of Grand Geneva: Spring of Apprenticeship to hatch his vocational training project

Each year, more than 2,000 young people are getting in the way of basic vocational training in Geneva. For some of them, spring marks a turning point in the development of their project. "This is the last reasonable time for those who have not yet begun to approach to find a training company for the next school year," says Magali Ginet Babel, project manager.

To help and support these young people, but also their parents, the CDM of Grand Geneva decided to establish, for the first time, the Spring of Apprenticeship. Sponsored by the Association CDM and its president, Nicolas Aune, the event was held March 20, in partnership with business and professional associations in the township.

Its purpose is to inform participants of the requirements and procedures into training and give them a maximum of tips and tools to achieve this. This initiative also reaffirms "the commitment of the CDM to enhance Apprenticeship", said Gregoire Evéquoz, President of the CDM Grand Genève and of the Network CDM.

At the heart of the workshops, recruiting live with small, medium and large companies wishing to find the gem. Applicants, in possession of a file containing CV, cover letter and final report card may come into direct contact with the trainers. In the same spirit, an English test is offered to young people interested in bilingual commercial sector. An information space, led by several professional associations also allows visitors to learn about the procedures for entry into training and career opportunities in various fields of activity. You can also perform simulations interview with members of the Rotary and attend skits performed by actors, to find the necessary ingredients for a successful interview.

Finally, to strengthen the confidence of candidates advice picture is provided by hair stylists and makeup artists. "We want to remind young people that should be overlooked and put the odds on his side nothing," says Magali Ginet Babel, coordinator of the event.
